

Announcing the INS Mid-Year Congress in Cape Town, South Africa

CALL for Abstracts

The 2017 INS Mid-Year Congress will be in collaboration with the Neuropsychological Association of South Africa (SACNA) and the Psychological Society of South Africa (PsySSA). The meeting will be held this July in beautiful Cape Town, South Africa, July 5-8, at the Cape Town International Convention Center.

The theme of the Cape Town Congress is "Celebrating 50 years of the INS." The Mid-year Congress program chairs, Ann Watts and Annelies Cramer, have planned a very exciting program, including the following Keynote Speakers:

- Presidential Address by Michael Kopelman on Neuroscience, Memory, and the Law
- Birch Lecture by Donald Stuss on Personalized Medicine: The Role of Neuropsychology
- Vicki Anderson on Predictors of Neurocognitive Outcomes Following Early Brain Injury
- Jon Evans on Rehabilitation of Memory and Executive Functions
- Jennifer Manly on Mechanisms of Cognitive Disparity in Older Adults: The Role of Race, Culture and Education
- Andrew Mayes on the Role of Hippocampus and Other Connected Brain Regions in Memory Functions
- Michael Saling on Diagnostic Approaches in Progressive Disorders: From Subjective Symptomatology to Neurobiomarkers.

Abstract submissions are welcome now through February 28th at ins2017.com/access-abstract-account. Full details for the meeting are available on the website at www.ins2017.com.

Be part of INS history! Come join us in Cape Town, SA.

